Headline:
Sunshine and showers today, some heavy and thundery.

Today:
Many places dry, with sunny spells to start the morning. Showers developing fairly widely by the afternoon with a chance of hail and thunder, these probably most frequent across the Pennines. Light winds initially, becoming rather breezy by late afternoon. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers and thunderstorms fading from most areas during the evening, though a few showers continuing overnight. Rather cloudy, but clear spells becoming more prolonged towards dawn. Breezy conditions easing. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Monday:
Another day of sunny spells and showers, these occasionally heavy through the afternoon with a risk of thunder, though probably not as widespread as Sunday. Mainly light winds. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Drier for many Tuesday and Wednesday with showers generally lighter and less frequent. Dry, mostly sunny Thursday after overnight rain clears. Near average temperatures, becoming locally rather warm from Wednesday.
